Use the “hand” to move the screen around, the “paint brush” to select precincts or blocks, and the “eraser” to undo any assignments.

Click on the plan title to change the name and to enter a description of your plan (see the previous slide).

Zoom in and out using the + and – buttons.

Click on the appropriate circle to choose which district to assign the next precinct or block you click.

Click “District Details” to see running totals for the district as you create it (see the next slide).

As you draw your map, details of the precinct or census block you click on will appear here. (To see the data for the district you are currently drawing, see the “District Details” option on the left side of the screen.)

Publish Map

Your published maps are visible to all DRA 2020 users. A good name and description will help other people find your map and understand how and why you built it.

Map Name
Copy of Carlsbad Existing 2020 Council Districts

Description
Carlsbad's current City Council districts. Note that Council District 1 has a non-contiguous position because the Census Bureau changed the Census Block lines (the official district is contiguous but now splits the census block).

Use this map as a template to draw your 2021 Carlsbad Council Districts proposal.

Including your Twitter handle in your profile will allow other users who are interested in your maps to follow your tweets and have conversations about the maps you are publishing.

Twitter Handle

CANCEL PUBLISH

Here is your last chance to change the plan name and/or description before it goes public.

And, if you wish, add your Twitter handle to be alerted if others discuss your plan in Twitter.

Then click "Publish."

Very Important:
You must then send an email to the jurisdiction with the plan name you just published (otherwise they jurisdiction will not know you have drawn it and will be unable to include it in their deliberations).
